

A painting of a medieval town street at night. In the foreground, a horse-drawn cart is being pulled by a horse. A person is standing next to the cart, holding the reins. The background shows a row of buildings with stone walls and tiled roofs. One building has a small window with a lattice frame. The overall atmosphere is dark and atmospheric.

wow, over 95% tickets sold!

last chance to register
for our seminar